

Ivan POKROVSKY /violin/

Ivan Pokrovsky is Russian violinist. He was born in Saratov in 1983. Ivan Pokrovsky graduated from the Moscow State Tchaikovsky Conservatory in the violin class of People's Artist of USSR, Professor Eduard Grach and class of chamber music of Professor Galina Shirinskaya and also postgraduate courses with same professors. Winner of the Open Russian violin competition by A. Korsakov in Tver, as well as the winner of the 5-th International Violin Competition by Andrea Postacchini in Fermo (Italy). Prize-winner of the Second International Violin Competition by Bogodar Kotorovych in Kharkov (Ukraine).

From 2003 to 2007 Ivan Pokrovsky played in “Moscovia” Chamber Orchestra conducted by M^o Eduard Grach, and also from 2007 to 2009 in Tchaikovsky Symphony Orchestra conducted by Vladimir Fedoseyev.

Ivan Pokrovsky works as a soloist in the Moscow concert organization “Mosconcert”, takes part in many different concerts - from solo to octet, and plays different music - from baroque to contemporary music. And also he has a violin class at the Moscow State Pedagogical University and at College of Music and Theatre as a violin teacher.

Contacts:

Tel.: +79265790511

e-mail: pokrovsky_ivan@mail.ru